

SALES VISIBILITY

FOR BPCS / ERP_{LX}

OVERVIEW

How long does it take your company to communicate orders and other valuable sales information to the back office to be acted on? How many times does this information have to be keyed and re-keyed before a customer order is filled? Can your inside sales force and customer service representatives readily access product availability and accounts receivable information?

Inside sales professionals and customer service representatives want a system that's easy to work with and accessible 24 x 7. A system that's user friendly and can provide access to customer's order history, product listing with quantities on hand, order status, and sales quotas. The ability to subscribe to alerts for notification of delayed shipments, new product offerings, or sales promotions keeps users informed of vital changing information.

If you have an internal sales staff and/or customer service representatives that want to break away from green screen data entry, TransitionWorks Software's Sales Visibility for BPCS/ERPLX is the answer.
